Encourage one another and build up each other....

I Thessalonians 5:11, NRSV

Thought for the Week

Luciano Pavarotti, the famous opera star, almost missed his calling. As a young man, he taught elementary school and sang only occasionally. But there were certain individuals that made a difference in his life. His Grandmother would hold him in her lap when he was a little boy and say, "You're going to be great, you'll see." His Father, recognizing the quality of his voice, encouraged him to develop his talent. A voice teacher took time to teach him the proper use of his voice. Friends pitched in to encourage him to pursue a career in music.

The turning point in someone's life may be a word of encouragement from you. Make it a point to see the good in others, to encourage them to be their best and do their best. The world has too many voices of doom and gloom. It is easier to find fault than it is see the good.

I read of a professor who gave each student in his class a sheet of paper. On each piece of paper there was a small black dot. He asked the class to write an essay on what they saw. All of the students in the class except one wrote about the black dot on the paper. One student saw the white paper and wrote on the challenges of the unlimited possibilities of life.

The world needs a voice of encouragement. Someone you know, in your family, in your work place, at church, needs a word of encouragement. Help people around you achieve their full potential by giving them a word of encouragement. Your positive word can make a difference in the life of someone. What you say can be a turning point in their life.

In His Love,
Charles

World Religions tour with Dr. Braswell

When Dr. Braswell, who is with the World Religions and Global Cultures Center at Campbell, spoke here a few weeks ago, he invited the congregation to join him on a tour of some of the local places of worship. The first tour dates are Oct 13-15 – visiting Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, Greek Orthodox, and Judaism places of worship. The other local one is on Sat, Nov 7 for Buddhism-Temple Tour, Tea Ceremony, and Chinese luncheon RSVP by Oct 24. The actual deadline for the first tour was Oct 1, so if you are interested, they need to know by this Friday, Oct 9. There is more detailed information available at the church, I also have it in PDF form that I can email to anyone upon request. You can sign up at the church this Wed night, or contact Lisa Grissom directly at 919-244-3286 or lgrissom0913@email.campbell.edu

Saturday, Oct 24 at 4pm.

Join us Saturday afternoon for a showing of the Christian comedy “Moms Night Out”. Admission is by donation of canned goods for the Hope Pantry. Pizza and snacks will be provided. All church members are invited, and please invite your friends!
